§ 4 BOARD

A board consisting of one ordinary member and one substitute from each of the member countries handles the affairs of the Society. The national societies are to elect one representative and a substitute. The chairperson of the board is elected by general vote at the general assembly. The election period for the chairperson is 4 years. The board members elect from among their numbers a vice-chairperson, a secretary, and a treasurer. The board forms a quorum when at least half of the members are present.

§ 5 ELECTION COMMITTEE

The Society has no separate election committee, but the board also serves as election committee.

§ 6 MEETINGS

The General Assembly is the supreme body of the society, supervising the activities of the board. The General Assembly, containing all members of the society, meets annually. The board is responsible for the arrangements in connection with the general assembly. The general assembly can be arranged online or in connection to a membership meeting.

NEDS should biannually arrange a membership meeting in the form of a scientific conference. The responsibility for arranging the membership meeting should be rotated among the member countries. Deviation from the rotation scheme can be decided by the general assembly. The NEDS shares the scientific and economical responsibility for the membership meeting with the national society and is entitled to half of the potential surplus.

An extraordinary general assembly can be called together by the board, and should be called together when at least 20% of the members of the Society demand it in writing. Notice should be made at least one month in advance by sending the agenda out.

§ 7 AUTHORISED SIGNATORY

The association's name is signed by the chairperson of the board or by the treasurer, each on their own.

§ 8 LANGUAGE

Languages used at the Society's meetings are Nordic languages or English. The rules of the Society and all minutes of the board meetings and the general assembly should be in English.

§ 9 ALTERATION OF RULES AND DISSOLUTION

The alteration of these rules must be decided by a general assembly. The suggested alterations must be announced in the agenda for the meeting. Two consecutive general assemblies (one an ordinary general assembly) must decide about the dissolution of the Society.

Existing funds in the Society are at dissolution entrusted to the knowledge seeking, patient supporting, or sick caring activities appointed by the last assembly.
